LITTLE FAITH

LITTLE FAITH

Upon seeing Turn-Away, the pilgrims remember the story of a man named Little Faith, a kindhearted, faithful believer in Jesus Christ who fell asleep along a crooked path beside the Narrow Way. As he slept, Little Faith was attacked by thieves who robbed him of his money.

Although his heart became downcast for a time, the thieves could not and did not steal his faith in the goodness of God.

THE FLATTERER

The Flatterer is a mysterious man clothed in a white robe to hide his true identity. This dark deceiver convinces the pilgrims to turn off the Narrow Way and follow him, leading them into a terrible trap. Christian and Hopeful are unable to escape and fear they may never reach the Celestial City.

ATHEIST

The pilgrims then meet Atheist, who is walking away from the Celestial City. He no longer has any interest in God and mocks the friends for their faith.

THE RIVER OF DEATH

The River of Death is a deep, dark, powerful river that must be crossed by everyone. The depth and power of its waters are determined by the faith or doubt of pilgrims as they cross.

SO CHRISTIAN AND HOPEFUL TRAVELED ON...

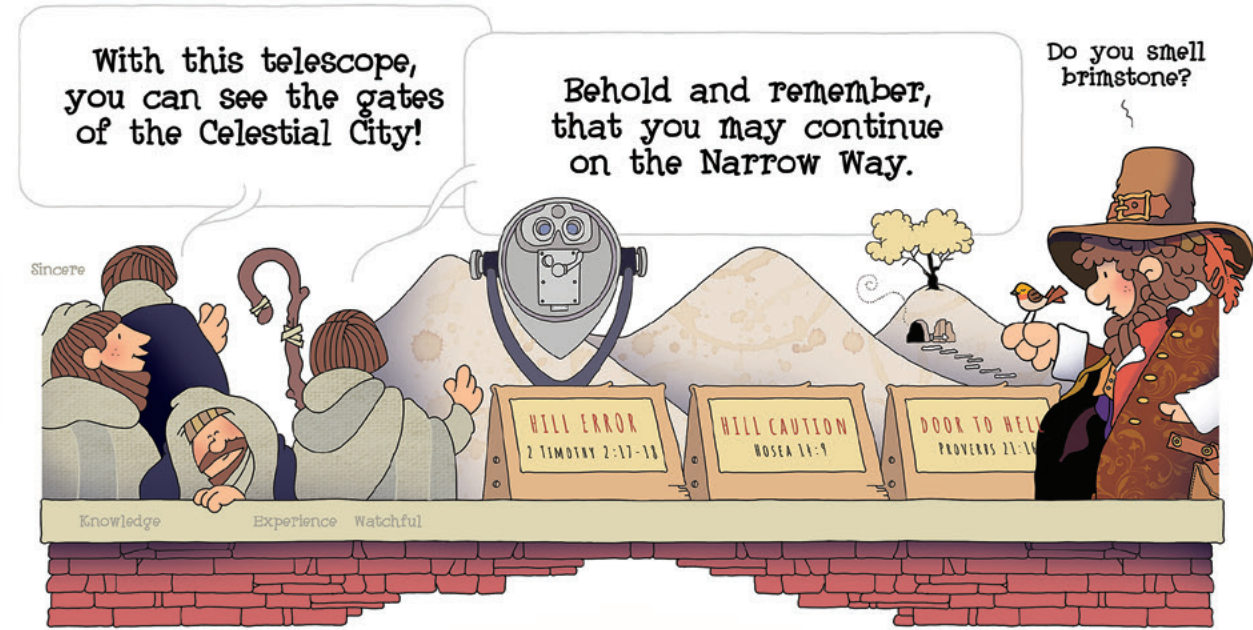

So Christian and Hopeful traveled on until they came to The Delectable Mountains.

Now, on the top of these mountains, there were shepherds feeding their flocks. The pilgrims came up to the shepherds and asked, "Whose Delectable Mountains are these?"

"These mountains are Emmanuel's Land," the shepherds replied. "And these sheep are His also, for He laid down His life for them!"

After resting there for the night, the shepherds led the pilgrims up the mountain and there showed them many incredible wonders!

As they were about to depart, one of the shepherds gave them a note with directions for their journey. Another warned them to beware of The Flatterer. The third cautioned them not to sleep upon The Enchanted Ground.

And the fourth bid them Godspeed as they continued on the Narrow Way.

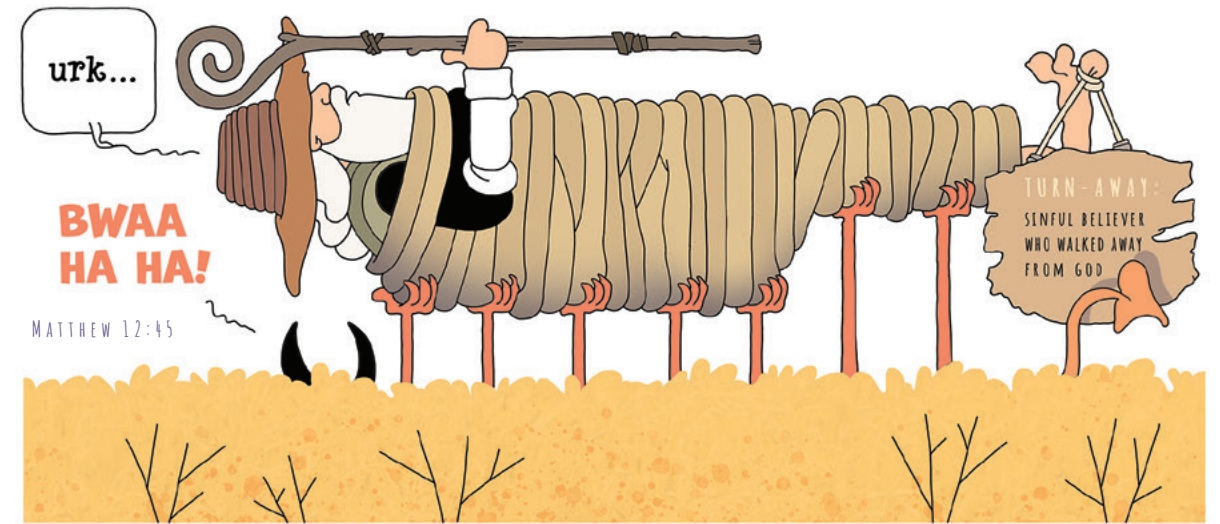

Now a little below the Delectable Mountains lay the country of Conceit.
 A little crooked lane ran from this country onto the Narrow Way.
 Here the pilgrims met a very boisterous lad named Ignorance.

“How do you suppose you’ll enter the gate of the Celestial City since you did not enter this path by the Narrow Gate?” Christian inquired.

After traveling a little way they entered into a very dark lane.
 Here they saw a man bound by seven strong cords being carried by seven devils who were taking him back to the Doorway to Hell!

The pilgrims trembled in fear as the devils carried the man away.
 As they sped him off to his fate, Christian remembered the story of a man named Little Faith from the town of Sincere. Fearing they would meet a similar end, he began to share that story with his beloved friend.
